Academic/Research Symposium
and Career Fair

The excellence of WNMU is found in you!
Please come and share it with us.

May 5, 2009

Who will present?

Any student attending WNMU or other local schools (public and charter schools, the Western Institute for Lifelong Learning, etc.) is invited to participate.

We will design the conference around the interest of students. The following categories are offered as starting points. We welcome additional suggestions!

- Research – Any research performed by a student or group of students can be presented at the conference. Such research might include extensive literature reviews or original research projects.
- Creative Works – Students are invited to share original artwork, personal essays, fiction, drama, poetry, music, performances (individual or group), or any other creative projects. These can be works created on or off campus that have been impacted by your studies.
- Public Service Projects – Students who have been involved in project(s) that serve the community are invited to share those.
- Technology – Share your impressive knowledge of technology with us. Perhaps you have written a computer program, have created some computer art, or have designed your own webpage – we want you to share that with everyone.
- Industrial and Applied Technology – Projects that show your skill and expertise are welcome. Come show your community what you do.
- Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Exhibits – Students are invited to show off teaching portfolios or projects related to teaching and learning. Many graduating School of Education students will their Action Learning Projects.
- Innovative Ideas – This is an opportunity to share a creative idea.
- Other – Again, we invite you to tell us about any work you have done at WNMU of which you are proud. Please share your interests and knowledge with everyone.

When & Where?

The Symposium is on May 5, 2009. It starts at 9:00 a.m. in the Intramural Gym in the Brancheau P. E. Complex on the Western New Mexico University campus.

How to Participate:

So that we can support your participation in this conference, we ask that you submit your proposal form by April 14. You may submit proposals for work that is in process and will be completed by May 5. You may also submit work done during a previous semester.

Send your request for the submission proposal form to Dr. Mary Baumhover at baumhoverm@wnmu.edu and return the completed form via email by April 14. Please include your telephone number or other contact information in the email.

Who is invited?

The Symposium and Career Fair are open to the public.
